

LO To write a story.

I can describe key events using ambitious language.

I understand what a paragraph is and can use this in my writing,

I can use dates and historical vocabulary in my writing.

Here are my ideas, from last week. Now we are going to use these words to help us continue writing an amazing story...

Crowded Streets

houses rattling shield face confused pushing slowly people barging flashing sparks hard to breathe thick black smoke fearful crowded dirty streets steaming cobblestones rapidly galloping horseshoes neighing coins clinking large leather pouch sparks stinging choking fiery flames flickering dank narrow streets moving cautiously stumbling

Remember to continue using the first person like we did when we wrote our diary entry.

Choose two or three more words then write them in sentences... continue this to make a paragraph that makes sense when it comes after your writing from yesterday...

Make a Firebreak

houses vomiting flames sweating bashing crashing wood hard work cracking creaking beams jump swiftly groaning wood heavy hot firehook explosive fire distraught terrified crash like thunder frightened faces houses tumbling dangerously sparks stinging choking glowing stones fiery flames flickering dull damaged wood destruction unbreathable smoke

Remember to continue using the first person like we did when we wrote our diary entry.

Choose two or three more words then write them in sentences to make a paragraph that makes sense when it comes next...

Stop when you have written about making a firebreak.

My example...

crowded dirty streets galloping fast running frightenedly flames flickering choking, burning smoke sparks popping wildly fearful

I walked away from the river fearfully. Just at that moment I spotted the King's messenger, galloping speedily away from the flickering flames and sparks popping wildly. Without noticing he suddenly dropped a bag of clinking coins onto the crowded, dirty streets.

Carefully I picked the bag up and went running frightendly after him, with the choking, burning smoke following me.

hot as lava    distraught    dripping with sweat crash like thunder    groaning wood firebreak    tumbling dangerously

Everyone in the street started to make a firebreak. The houses were all jumbled together so we needed to try and stop the fire from spreading, I joined in to help. When the houses were falling they made a crash like thunder. It took all of my might, by the time I had pulled a house down dangerously I was dripping with sweat and hot as lava from being so close to the scorching flames. The owner of the house was distraught as the air was filled with the sound of groaning wood.

Think! What could you see?

What could you hear?

What could you feel?

What could you smell?

Use your wonderful words to continue your story.
